Chemical Cleaning Service

Chemical cleaning works can be classified as pre-commissioning and commissioning cleaning. Pre-commissioning cleaning (Degreasing, Acid cleaning and Passivation) is required to achieve the process parameters and to have a safe and smooth start-up of the equipment. Equipment which are in the process operations for few years need cleaning due to fouling caused by scale formation or deposits. In such cases a solubility test is required on the scale / deposit sample to ascertain the correct solvent to remove the pollution. This type of cleaning is referred to “commissioning” cleaning.

On both cleaning operations an external pumping unit is required (like circulation temporary pump, mixing tank, heat-exchanger, temporary hoses, transfer pumps, fittings and adopters etc.) to facilitate a closed circuit around the process equipment to be cleaned in question. Effluent generated during this cleaning operation will be neutralized to acceptable standards and disposed of environmentally friendly.
